Timer1 Gate connects the clock source to the timer which will subsequently start counting. This method only concerns itself with closing and opening the gate.